A SENSE of PLACE

The Malaysian Institute of Interior Designers
(MIID) is pleased to present the interior design
conference of the year

What has the world turned into at the start of this new millennium? Alas, a world of ubiquitous elements, places, spaces and things. With the advent of the internet and cheaper travel, and the easy movement of goods, materials and services throughout the globe; we now have a rather uniform world where we all watch the same movies, play the same computer games, wear the same clothes, listen to the same music, drive the same cars, go to the same holiday destinations, live in the same air-conditioned environment, et al. In a nutshell, it is boring, predictable and also harmful to the natural environment.

Hence the theme of this design conference: "A Sense of Place". How does a designer faced with a plethora of options and opportunities, exploit the special unique site conditions to create wonderful memorable places? How do they achieve that within a commercial environment where financial profit is the main motivator, and yet meeting the aspirations of their clients within the context?

This year we are inviting a selection of creative designers in various fields of Art and Design, to share with us their experiences, skills and secrets in doing what they are great at, and with passion too! Our speakers are to focus on the conference theme and share their design and artistic approaches to creating memorable spaces, imbued with a sense of place and time.
